

People always watch the news filled with events and accidents, thinking that these things could never happen to them or those around them.

But, thoughts like that are misleading because misfortunes don't give any warning.

At that time, I also did not care about anything except for the tale of my first love.

While believing that my calm life would last forever...

At 17 years old, that summer day, I had fallen in love.

17 Years Old - That Summer Day's Miracle

Starts now.
